BAYSHORE SEES CHAMPION DOGS RACE SATURDAY

Largest Crowd To Attend During This Meeting Expected For Closing Night

All roads will lead to Town & Country Kennel Club. Saturday night, March 19, where the O. P. Smith Memorial Race will feature closing night of the 1938 spring season of greyhound racing.

Record breaking greyhounds, including the famous Gold Dust Twins, Andrew's Pride and Mike Andrew, owned by P. J. Olmo of Colma, will participate in the closing night program.

The O. P. Smith Memorial is dedicated to the genious who invented the electrical lure for greyhound racing. The late O. P. Smith first used an electrical "rabbit" at Emeryville track in 1920, later taking the device to Tulsa, Oklahoma, where the first records were kept of greyhound racing.

On Saturday night the Memorial Race will be over the tortuous International Course, which is 721 yards. The greyhounds start on the backstretch and offer a thrilling spectacle as they complete two circuits of the racing strip. The lead changes frequently and there is a thrill a second.

On Friday night the longest race in the history of Pacific Coast racing will take place at Bayshore track. It will be a one half mile run, featuring experienced routers who are being specially groomed for this unusual distance. The race lasts almost a full minute, with the greyhounds covering 51 feet per second, an unparalled feat of speed and endurance.

Tomorrow evening will witness the closing races at the Bayshore City greyhound race course. It is expected the largest crowd yet to attend at this meeting will be present to see the sports.

The contests at this session have been some of the best ever witnessed at this popular course and large and enthusiastic crowds have enjoyed the sport nightly.

COUNTY BOARD PROTESTS FAIR TAKING OF SOIL

Removal Of Loam In Large Quantities Depreciates Agricultural Area Near Sharp Park

Removal of loam and trees from picturesque San Mateo County to grace the mud flats on which the 1939 World's Fair is being constructed today drew vigorous protests from San Mateo County officials.

The board of Supervisors heard a protest from the Sharp Park Improvement Club against wholesale removal of loam from the coastside area for use on the fair site.

County Engineer U. S. Marshall revealed that not only soil but trees are being removed from the county to the fair site.

"I know of one contract for 175,000 cubic yards of top soil to be taken from San Mateo County for this purpose," Marshall announced. "Some of the soil is taken from the Coast area, particularly in the Edgemar district, and more is to be taken from the Colma Creek drainage area.

Drainage sectors in the Colma Creek basin have cost $360,000, and the problem isn't solved yet," Marshall declared.

"Removal of more top soil will aggravate the erosion problem there."

He suggested in investigation and an official protest to the exposition company, with the suggestion that the loam required for the exposition be taken from the Sacramento River delta, source of soil for the 1915 exposition.

The members of the board considered the removal of soil from this county a serious menace and ordered action taken as suggested.

WATCH OTHERS AT APPROACH

One good way to avoid traffic trouble, on the open road or in the city, is to keep an eye on the fellow driving toward you. Watch him closely. If he keeps turning his head from side to side, give him plenty of room. These traffic twisters usually can be spotted a hundred yards away. They are apt to disregard the center line entirely, so give them a wide berth. Sometimes you can snap these dizzy drivers out of their lethargy by a toot of the horn. It is worth a try anyway.

A lot of unexplained accidents are probably due to the bad habit of turning the head, instead of watching the road. Help prevent accidents by keeping your mind on your driving and your eyes on the road, the National Safety Council advises. — San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

HOLDUPS FOILED WHEN TWO MEN ENTER TAVERN

Pair Of Would-Be Robbers Flee When Proprietor Shows Fight

Badly frightened when their intended victim reached for a gun, two masked bandits fled, early Tuesday of this week, after attempting to hold up a Daly City tavern without obtaining any loot.

The two men entered Kelly's Corner, Knowles and Mission streets, here, at midnight while Gene Duffy, one of the proprietors, was alone in the place. The two ordered beers.

Duffey said he momentarily turned his back and, when he again faced the pair, black handkerchiefs covered the lower parts of their faces.

Each held a hand in an overcoat pocket and gestured as though he had a gun.

One of the bandits, Duffy said, commanded:

"Hand over the cash, you——"

Duffy told Police Chief James Reardon that, instead of complying with the command, he reached under the counter for a revolver and the pair backed hastily out the front door. They fled west on Knowles street in an old car, Duffy said.

He described one of the bandits as about 40 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 155 pounds, and wearing a light coat and overcoat. The other was about 32 years old, 5 feet 10 inches, weighted 175 pounds, and wore a brown overcoat and light hat.

Police believe they may be the robbers who have staged a series of holdups in Daly City and in other parts of the county during the past two months.

HOLDS HIS OWN WITH LAMB STEW

During General John J. Pershing's recent convalescence he issued orders for a special lamb stew for lunch. He directed that it be prepared by the chef of the resort hotel, in Tucson, where he was staying when he became ill several weeks ago. The hotel chef, the general explained, made stew the way he liked it.

For breakfast the same day he had cereal with egg white, half a grapefruit, orange juice and milk. Between meals he was allowed to indulge in toast and cream cheese.

For dinner, at night, he had a cream soup, cereal with egg white, Jelly, custard and hot milk.

Greeted by George Creel, United States commissioner to the Golden Gate Exposition, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is pictured as she recently arrived in San Francisco. The first lady was accompanied by Creel to Treasure Island, site of the exposition, in San Francisco Bay, where the first lady broke ground for the $500,000 federal building. After a busy day, Mrs. Roosevelt addressed a huge throng in the Civic Auditorium on "Peace." Representatives of various branches of the service and diplomatic corps attended. While on the Fair site, Mrs. Roosevelt took the controls of a tractor operating a "bulldozer" to turn over the ground.

TRAFFIC DEATHS IN COUNTY FOUR BELOW YEAR AGO

San Mateo County had 78 traffic deaths in 1937 as compared with 80 deaths in 1936, according to figures reported by the state director of motor vehicles.

Total figures for the state showed Mono County with the lowest figure, a single traffic fatality, while the highest record of death was in Los Angeles County where 1001 persons were killed during the year.

While the accident death total for 1937 reached 3149 and exceeded 1936 record by seven, 32 of the state's 58 counties reduced their deaths.

In this connection the director said:

"The showing in 32 counties for 1937 spurs us on in our united safety campaign efforts in the hope that every county will show a reduction for 1938.

"Under the State Traffic Safety Commission, organized by Governor Merriam, leading civic safety groups are working with the state in a coordinated campaign to cut down the highway toll."

FERRELL ADVISES COUNTY BOARD REFUSE TO CALL

On Advice Of District Attorney Supervisors Decide Against Calling Special Election—Court Action Probable

At an adjourned meeting of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, yesterday morning, a decision was reached not to issue a call for a special election for six officials. This matter was decided last summer by vote of the people at a special election to amend the county charter to make these officials elective instead of appointive.

It was intimated that a court appeal would be asked to compel the board to follow out the instructions conveyed by the affirmative vote on the charter amendment question. However, no such order could be effective until after the time has expired in which the state statutes provide such call shall be made by the board.

Acording to advices received at Redwood City, Wednesday of this week, it will be compulsory for the Board of Supervisors to call a special election to fill six county offices made elective by the charter amendments, voted by the electorate at an election last summer.

The ruling, given by Robert Harrison, a deputy in the office of the State attorney general, held that the offices must be filled by special election as required by the charter amendments ratified March 9 by the State Legislature.

Harrison held that the officials thus elected must qualify for the ballot under section 1188 of the political code, which will require 2113 signatures on each nominating petition. He held further that the officers elected at the special election will hold office only until their successors are named at the regular elections in August and November.

The ruling was given to District Attorney Gilbert D. Ferrell by telephone Tuesday evening.

It now appears obvious that the election will be called by the supervisors when they convene in adjourned session at 10 a.m. today, Friday. Nominating petition forms are now being prepared in Ferrell's office, it was learned.

Opposition to the special election has already been voiced by the LaFayette Club of San Mateo County and similar action is expected from the County Federation of Improvement Clubs, which meets tomorrow night.

Said Executive E. A. Rolison, whose appointive term of office ends with the special election: "I don't see how the board can do anything else but to call an election. The arguments that an election so near the August election is a waste of money is a good argument, but it is not a legal argument."

Most of those who stated any opinion on the subject expressed the same views.

Supervisor Poole said it was probable that the board would call the election at the adjourned meeting today.

Deputy Attorney General Harrison, explaining the ruling, said:

"We rendered an opinion in May of last year before the emendments were voted on.

"Our view was that it would then be necessary to hold an election to put the provisions of the amendments into operation, and, thereafter, the offices would be filled at the regular election."

District Attorney Ferrell declined to comment until today's special meeting of the board, but it appears probable that he will advise the supervisors at that time that the election must be held.

Cornoer William F. Crosby of Burlingame said he would become a candidate for election, and will begin immediately to circulate his nomination petition.

Crosby said it was likely that workers would be put in the field to obtain signatures for as many as three candidates at a time in order to facilitate the immense task.

Others who will have to obtain more than 2000 signatures are County Executive Rolison, Engineer U. S. Marshall, Recorder T. Clark Rice, Treasurer Al Sagehorn and Tax Collector Ambrose McSweeney. All have stated they will seek election.

No voter may sign the petition of more than one candidate for the same office. If, for example, there are three candidates for executive, close to 7000 names would have to be obtained for them to qualify. The work of verification of signatures will take a corps of registration deputies in the county clerk's office.

The supervisors must act on the election date before March 29. They must set the date "not sooner than 20 days, nor later than 60 days" after the 29th. The deadline would be May 27.

One of the legal complexities of the situation is the provision of section 1188 requiring candidates to file their nomination petitions not later than 35 days before the election. This would require the board to give the candidates ample time to file their papers, otherwise the county would have an election without any candidates.

ROCKAWAY BEACH PEDRO VALLEY

A lull in the tempests that have swept this region for so many weeks past, makes everybody more cheerful. In another week the earth should be warm and dry enough for planting seeds in the hillside gardens. But the roads! They're in a deplorable condition, with gurgling rills running along just where the wheels of cars want to go. However, even such things as washouts on roads improve as the weather gets better.

Judge McNutt was a visitor at Pedro last week. Amony other local friends, the judge saw Harry Danmann, and his attention was caught by the old Republican and Democratic Voters' lists in the Danmann home. He recognized a number of names as old California voters when he was still a young man. One of these, Byron Waters, was the father-in-law of Mrs. Grace Danmann, in her first marriage. He was corporation lawyer for the Southern Pacific, and was associate judge of the Supreme Court of California. Judge McNutt, who knew Judge Waters personally, related how he used to appear in court exquisitely attired, doffing his elegant "fedora" hat and tossing it on a table, and dusting imaginary specks off his chair with a large silk handkerchief before he sat down. The judge is reported to be writing a book on California history, and in it will be included many interesting incidents about men who were important figures in their day.

The police were notified and Chief Reardon and Officer Hilton responded. They found a line of blood trailing the place, but no one was on the premises. They went to the home of Hambleton and found it locked. They entered through a window and found the would-be suicide unconscious with his left wrist badly cut and a slight cut in his throat.

Following the closing at the Alcazar of "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," next Sunday night, March 20, the Federal Theater Project opens Monday night with what is said to be one of the cleverest comedies produced in New York during the past year, Mary Coyle Chase's "Me Third."

"The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," the English mystery play, was held an extra week to capacity business and established a new record for FTP plays in San Francisco.

"Me Third" is the story of a politician of the stuffed shirt variety and his campaign for the county attorneyship, aided and abetted by the women members of his family and the party leaders, who can not otherwise help themselves. The play was first produced in Denver by the Federal Theater and its success was such that it was purchased and produced by Brock Pemberton in New York. In the cast are Grace Cooper, Geraldine Allan, Ruth Saville, Edna Elsmere, Richard Allen, Daniel Pennell, Rupert Drum, Maurice Hugo, Dorothy White and the project's newest and youngest actor, Kenneth Rossi. It is scheduled for a two weeks run.

OBSERVATIONS OF GOINGS ON IN NATION CAPITAL

If Someone Should Pass You A Counterfeit Bill Tomorrow — Would You Know It?

(By Hart Goodrich)

One of the favorite questions of curbstone radio interviewers is, "What is the picture on the $5 bill?" It would be worth your while to know the answer to this question and questions concerning famous faces on all of our currency, the Secret Service Bureau advises.

The first big stumbling block ever placed in the way of the counterfeiter was when, in 1928, the Treasury Department decided to use the same portraits on notes of the same denomination. Previously it happened that five or six Presidents had their pictures on notes of the same denomination, making it easier for counterfeiters to fool their victims.

There are eleven denominations, and each one carries a standard identifying portrait. Memorize the following and save yourself possible loss.

Denominations and portraits are as follows:

$1—George Washington.
$2—Thomas Jefferson.
$5—Abraham Lincoln.
$10—Alexander Hamilton.
$20—Andrew Jackson.
$50—Ulysses S. Grant.
$100—Benjamin Franklin.
$500—McKinley.
$1000—Cleveland.
$5000—Madison.
$10,000—Samuel Chase.

The commonest type of counterfeiting is that done by changing the amount in the corner of the note to read a higher denomination. A short time ago a Washington woman was arrested for a rank amateur counterfeiting job. With no experience whatever, she succeeded in passing off a $1 bill for a ten, having raised the numeral herself—and in a very crude way.

A daily newspaper some time ago published a reproduction of a new counterfeit $20 bill to illustrate a news item, warning its readers against the bogus bills. The very next day Secret Service men pounced on a man for passing one of these newspaper illustrations and getting away with it. He had cut out the pictures, pasted face and back together, and had succeeded in negotiating an obvious poor reproduction of a counterfeit note. Incidentally, reproduction of United States currency in any manner is illegal. So the newspaper itself was liable for action.

Secret Service agents develop a keen sense of admiration for steel-engraved subjects. Veterans in the service almost instantly can detect the work of a new counterfeiter. They can tell at first glance the handiwork of an ex-counterfeiter returned to his former industry.

Few people know that our currency notes are printed from steel plates; that these steel plates originally are engraved by hand and that the men who perform this work are the finest engravers in the United States. The composite design represents a challenge to the finest engraving exhibited in any art gallery.

Genuine notes are printed on high grade distinctive paper impregnated with tiny red and blue silk fiber. These threads are perhaps difficult to discern at first glance. They are placed in the paper to increase its tensile strength and durability, and not as a protective feature, as some people imagine. The lettering on your engraved personal or business card shows an upraised surface. Each note issued by the government is similarly made.

Many of us confuse the Secret Service with the Department of Justice operatives or "G" men. The Secret Service Bureau is a part of the Treasury Department, and has no jurisdiction over Department of Justice operatives, or vice versa. A plan for combining these two agencies was submitted recently.

Whether the functions will be purely social, or maybe active at times of fire or distress, has not yet been ascertained. ### District Meeting Honors State Officer Of Organization As Guest

The Twenty-sixth District of the American Legion Auxiliary met recently in the American Legion Hall, South San Francisco. Bernard McCafferey Unit acted as hostess. Mrs. L. N. Zant presided. Mrs. Ethel Flynn, state secretary-treasurer, was the guest of the evening. Mrs. Flynn gave some interesting facts and explained the different phases of the Auxiliary program. She told of the fine work the Legion and Auxiliary are doing in the flood areas down south. The Legion members have been working side by side with the police. Mrs. Flynn also spoke on Community Service, this being Community Service Month.

Short reports were made by the various chairmen. Mary Hayes, membership chairman, reported that the Twenty-sixth District has 560 members, with a quota of 529. They are second in the state. Nell Cathey, rehabilitation chairman, advised all Units to complete their hospital sewing quotas, as these articles are needed at once.

BRISBANE GENERALITIES

Big doings at the Legion Social Hall next Thursday evening. We hear tell that all of the posts of the area will be represented in the first Legion meeting held in the new hall.

It begins to look as though we had a counterpart of the south—the Los Angeles moving mountain. It seems that in digging through the mountain, a key rock was disturbed and the recent showers have finished the job. So now we have a slide with every sprinkle. It is well that the area is away from any occupied section.

Permission has been granted for the use of one of the hills here for the first Easter sunrise service in Brisbane. The services are to held at the southeast side of town and can be reached by way of Santa Clara avenue and a short walk from the street. The services will start at 5:15 a.m. with sunrise at 5:19 on April 17. The complete program will be published at a later date.

During the last rain, a report reached me that the weather man received 62 calls in one hour, asking him to do something about the weather.

Our good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Al Foster and family, are away over the week end, visiting with Mr. Foster's parents in Fresno, who are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary today. The members of their family are gathering at the old homestead from far and near to honor the event. Keep going folks, the diamond anniversary isn't far off now.

We wish that Mat Anderson wouldn't be quite so fancy in building his fence. The do-dads on the top make the rest of us want some too.

So Harold Annis wants to fly? We might suggest that you ask Tiny Burns how the weather is up there, before you try to go up.

By the way folks, how many of you know that we have a well equipped branch of the county library located in the drug store? Make use of it; after all it's yours.

The advertisers in the Sun are interested in building a business in your community. Patronize them and help yourself by buying from your neighbor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Anderson took a trip last week end to Turlock, and brought Mrs. Anderson's mother back with them for a short visit. We all hope she enjoys her stay.

The way Mr. O. Ferguson has built and stuccoed his bird aviary is grand. Now I know where to go when the Mrs. puts me in the dog house.

Kite season is again in full swing. Christmas, birthdays and kite season are sure good times for the dads. Of course they must show junior how they used to do it. The thing that surprises me is that it takes so long for junior to catch on.

Saw Mrs. McKinney in confab on the steps of the electric shop the other day. Could it have been P. T. A., school board, or could it have been a line up waiting for the Mr?

What's this we hear about the firemen having a drawing on a complete service of dishes, silverware, glasses, etc. My, oh my, that might be a good start for some young couple.

If George Fogarty doesn't stop his polishing his car he will wear the paint off.

The officers of the Brisbane Fire Department have gone up a step due to Mr. Pergeaux going back as a fireman. Chief Schmidt, Assistant Chief Johnson, Captain Trafford, Lieutenant Brown. The final list of candidates for Fire Commissioners: Al Lothrop (incumbent) a wholesale grocery clerk; Al Adams, stevedore; Bob Burns, Brisbane business man. A very close election is expected.

Sorry to hear Alice Van Zant was so badly scalded last Saturday. Hoping to see her home from the hospital soon.

LEGION BOOST PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK IN STATE

Will Extend Fullest Co-operation For Successful Observance Of Event

The American Legion of California plans to extend the fullest cooperation possible through its various posts to the successful observance of Public Schools Week, beginning April 25, according to a statement made public by Joseph S. Long, state commander of the Legion.

"All members of the American Legion are deeply interested in the observance of Public Schools Week, beginning April 25," said Long and continued:

"One of the cardinal purposes of our organization is the rightful education of the children of our country. A great many of us are directly interested as parents, and will avail ourselves of this opportunity to reacquaint ourselves with the educational program of our children.

"As citizens, we are concerned with the opportunities offered to all children by the public schools of this country. As patriots, we know that the future of America lies in the true appreciation of its institutions gained through the field of education.

"In little knowledge there is danger, but in greater knowledge is the hope for a greater America."

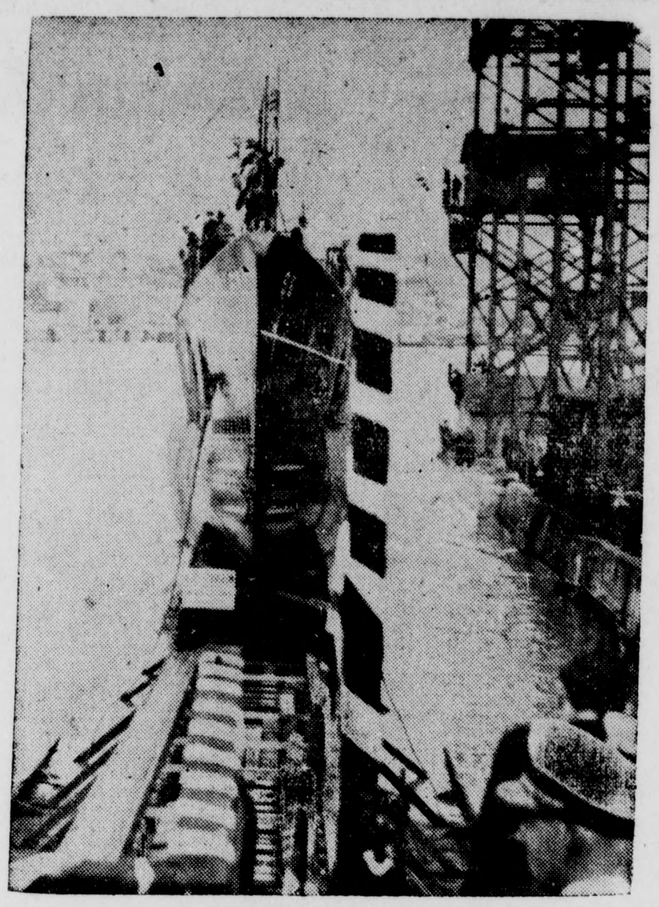

The statement follows closely on a pledge of statewide co-operation given by Mrs. B. C. Clark, president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

SHAKEN IN CRASH

Occupants of a car driven by John G. Cochrane, 324 San Jose avenue, were shaken when the machine struck the parked car of Harold L. Smith, 838 Divisadero street, San Francisco, on San Jose avenue near Flournoy street, Sunday of this week.

A Kansas statute forbids hotels or rooming houses to use any bed or mattress made of "moss, sea grass, or excelsior."

Newest Submarine Launched On Coast

Sliding down the ways is the newest of Uncle Sam's submarine fleet, the U. S. S. Sturgeon, built and launched under virtual wartime precautions at Mare Island, Cal., Navy Yard. Special guards patorolled the yard and spectators were not allowed to venture too near the vessel. Mrs. Charles S. Freeman, wife of Rear Admiral Freeman, commander of the submarine force, christened the Sturgeon with champagne. The 1466 ton undersea craft will be commissioned at Mare Island. Fifteen more submarine are being built to strenghten the U. S. Fleet.

COMMUNITY CHURCH NEWS

WITNESSING SUNDAY

Sunday, March 20, Church school meets at 10 a.m. and morning worship at 11 a.m. at the Fire Hall. Rev. Donaldson's sermon topic for the morning is "Ye are witnesses of these things."

Witnessing Sunday marks the culmination of our every member enlistment for worship, for study, for service, for church support and launching of the climatic period of special evangelistic emphasis to win our friends to Christ and His Church.

"Religion is the natural ally of all those who would bring about a real brotherhood among men, and end for all time man's inhumanity to man."

The church cannot be content to do ambulance work for the crashes our civilization causes. It must ask why there has been a crash.

Do not forget to plan to be present at Brisbane's first Easter Sunrise service. A period of inspiration and thought at this, the greatest day in Christendom. Complete plans will be announced later.

The evening Christian Endeavor hour, starting at 7 p.m., will be held by Bud Lampky. All are invited to attend.

Win Probation On Bad Check Charge

Two girls, convicted of obtaining money here through fictitious checks, were granted probation in Superior Court at Redwood City, this week, when they agreed to make restitution.

The girls, Bertha Le Fournaise and Carolyn Lee Sansome, along with another defendant, June Clark, were held for trial by Judge Wade H. Clay several weeks ago.

The three were arrested in Oakland on charges of a Daly City merchant. Miss Clark failed to appear for arraignment two weeks ago and a bench warrant, issued for her arrest, has not yet been served.

NEW BOY ARRIVES

The home of Fred J. Volkman at 792 Jenevein avenue, San Bruno, was brightened with happiness, early this week.

Mrs. Volkman gave birth to a son, who arrived in Junipero Serra Hospital, Sunday night of this week. The proud father's face is beaming with smiles and he says he "feels fine."

Mrs. Volkman was the former Miss Alice May before her marriage 10 years ago.

Walter Sanford, taxicab driver of Coldwater, Mich., recently suspended service for three days, awaiting the burial of "King Tut," a cat which had ridden with him in his cab for nearly 17 years.
